

are not well supplied with arms, but have enough to put up a terrible fight against soldiers or Americans. The Mexicans attacked the mounted police yesterday, fighting a battle which resulted in the death of a large number of them. General Manager J. S. Dwyer was injured by a bullet, receiving a scalp wound that is not serious. Five thousand Mexicans are out on strike. They are very defiant, marching through the streets and every evening attacking every Mexican and American in Cananea, who does not join them. They are making threats that they will destroy the entire camp and exterminate every American in it.

URGENT APPEAL TO UNITED STATES

Governor of Sonora Himself Sends Message to the State Department.

(By Associated Press.) WASHINGTON, June 2.—The state department has received a most urgent appeal for help from American Consul Garbair, at Cananea, Mexico, in which the consul says:

"Aid from United States absolutely essential." The state department has received direct application from the governor of the State of Sonora, Mexico, for help from the American side, a most extraordinary occurrence. The direct appeal was the subject of hasty consultations to-day between the secretary of state, the chief of staff, Brigadier-General Bell, and the law officer of the department, inasmuch as the question of the right of the United States to send troops into a friendly State is in doubt.

There are no treaties conveying any authority for the international use of troops across the frontier of the nation, but that they had no authority to act on their own initiative and dispatch troops into Mexico no matter how great the emergency, unless these troops were called for by the Mexican Governor through constitutional channels. Not through the Governor of the Mexican State of Sonora was authorized to make a legal call for the use of American troops and if he felt the need of that kind of help, before his requisition could be honored by our government it must have been taken up and transmitted through his own foreign office.

This afternoon the following telegram was sent from the War Department to the commander of the garrison at Fort Tachuca, addressed to Naco, Arizona, upon information that he had started for Cananea, in Mexico:

"The Military Secretary's Office, Washington, June 2, 1906. To Major Charles H. Watts, Fifth Cavalry, Naco, Arizona. 'Secretary of War directs that you and your squadron shall not cross the boundary line into Mexico. If you reach Naco, go into camp there and await instructions. If you receive this message, telegraph this office your whereabouts immediately.'

TAKES STEPS TO PUNISH RIOTERS

The Mexican Government Acts Promptly and With Vigor. Question of Invasion.

(By Associated Press.) MEXICO CITY, June 2.—The government has advised from Cananea, Sonora, to the effect that the strike of Mexican employees against the mining company's management was at first perfectly pacific.

The pretext was that the Mexican employees were unfairly treated and that preference in pay and employment was given to Americans. The Mexican miners' demands, it is said, were roughly repulsed, which gave rise to angry feeling; and the strikers set fire to deposits of wood, resulting in an armed conflict between Americans and Mexicans, in which fourteen men were killed and wounded on both sides.

A concentration of Federal forces was ordered so as to stamp out the movement and to preserve order.

Word has been sent to arrest and duly punish the guilty parties and the government will proceed with the utmost vigor.

MESSAGE FROM GREENE.

Sends Word That He Has Situation Well in Hand.

NEW YORK, June 2.—George S. Robbins, secretary of the Kreen Consolidated Copper Company, to-day received the following telegram from W. C. Green, president of that company, from Cananea, Mexico:

"Furnaces and mines all closed down to-day on account of rioting among the Mexican strikers. Authorities giving us every protection possible, assisted by the employees of the company. The Mesa lumber yard burned, and Metcalf and brother killed defending property. During disturbance, number wounded not known. No other Americans killed. Governor Sonora, with troops, will arrive in the morning. We have the situation well in hand. Smelling and concentrating plans submitted. Trouble incited by socialistic organizations that has been formed here by malcontents opposed to Diaz government. Expect plants to be running full capacity tomorrow. Bishop Douglas and Navy have sent 200 volunteers to aid in preserving order.

SUIT BROUGHT.

Action to Compel Restoration of Money to Insurance Co.

(By Associated Press.) MINNEAPOLIS, MINN., June 2.—Suit was begun to-day by the present management of the Northwestern National Life Insurance Company against Dr. J. F. Porter, former president, asking for an accounting and the return of any of the company's funds found to have been misappropriated. It is alleged in the complaint that Porter and his associates have received $50,000 which is charged with paying to Dr. E. V. Edwards, his predecessor in office, for getting out. It is alleged that this sum came out of the company's treasury and should be returned.

Shaw in Iowa.

(By Associated Press.) DES MOINES, IOWA, June 2.—Secretary of the Treasury Leslie M. Shaw, came to Iowa to participate in a bitter factional fight for Governor now on in the Republican party. Secretary Shaw delivered two speeches in which he attacked Governor Cummins for being a tariff revisionist. He assailed the Republicans who demand immediate revision, but he suggested the possibility of revision after the 1908 presidential election.

SOUTH BOSTON IS FULL OF PLUCK

While his injury is serious yet it is not regarded dangerous. The fire which occurred early yesterday afternoon was under control by six o'clock and the lot of excited, exhausted and hard fighting people returned to their homes or those who were burned out to their friend's homes and uttered a sigh of relief that the great conflagration, which destroyed about one-tenth of the town was abating.

Huge walls and tall chimneys stand like huge giants aloft in the air. The burned district was visited to-day by a large number of people. The news of the fire was a great shock to the people in town as well as out on account of the rapidity with which the flames traveling north-eastward, leaped from building to building, leaving behind its path only a pile of ashes and other debris.

The firemen did heroic work and the large number of volunteer firemen also deserve special credit in subduing the flames and saving personal property. The fire originated in a small feed room in the rear of Edmondson's stables, rapidly consuming the entire stables and four horses.

Next to Edmondson's large warehouse, which is one of the oldest in the country, the First National Bank, L. C. Ingles jewelry store, Samuel F. Gilliland's large department store, Jake Summerfield, B. J. Griffin, C. C. Firehouse's residence and Hotel Garland came next. The flames in the meantime had leapt across to Broad Street and with mad rapidity, easily gutted the six story tobacco priory of the Imperial Tobacco Company and two other factories belonging to Major Edmondson.

The dwellings of E. C. Garrard, E. M. Penick, I. C. and N. B. Spragins, Mrs. Sarah Howell, W. L. Rice, A. J. Glasscock and C. T. Wilmouth next proved easy victims for the hungry flames. Here they were checked on Reservoir Street in the residential section, and in the business section after Griffin's harness and saddle store had been consumed, and the eager spectators and three men uttered a sigh of relief.

The ladies also did excellent work and must not be passed unmentioned. The water supply was good, but insufficient, and Danville extended a welcome hand and the only regret is that the engines could not reach here sooner as the firemen did good work for which South Boston is grateful.

The town also greatly appreciates the editorial of this morning in which the Times-Dispatch in behalf of Richmond, extends sympathy and offers a helping hand to South Boston, and further speaks in a complimentary manner of the rapid growth of the town and the number of enterprising business men it contains.

MOVEMENT TO ELECT TARIFF REFORM MEMBERS

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, June 2.—A dinner was given by the Tariff Reform Committee of the Reform Club to-night at the Hotel Astor to inaugurate a movement to return to Congress at the election members pledged to tariff reform legislation. Henry B. Stabler, chairman of the Reform Club, presided, and the speakers included ex-Governor William L. Douglas, of Massachusetts; Representative Joseph Sharp, of Virginia; and J. T. Rainey, of Illinois. Letters of regret were read from former President Grover Cleveland, Alton B. Parker and Henry Waterson.

INDICTED FOR ATTEMPT TO BRIBE GRAND JURY

(By Associated Press.)

GAINESVILLE, FLA., June 2.—The grand jury of the special term of the Circuit Court convened to-day to try into alleged irregularities of the grand jury at the last regular term of court, returned indictments to-day against J. N. Stobbar, former agent of the Atlantic Coast Line at this point; J. C. Thomas and William Thomas for attempting to bribe the last jury. Sensational charges are also made that certain prominent attorneys had attempted to influence the grand jurors by giving them whiskey.

PLAN OF NEW DINING ROOM.

An appropriation was made by the General Assembly of Virginia, meeting last winter, to defray the expense of an addition to the Executive Mansion of Virginia, and the accompanying illustration is taken from the drawings of the architect, Captain M. J. DeLoach, who has been selected to complete the building. The contract has been awarded to Mr. Joseph W. Thomas, of this city, who has begun work, and will complete the addition ready for occupancy by October 1st.

The want of this new dining-room addition to the mansion has been greatly felt for many years, as the present dining-room is on the ground floor, has a contracted approach and is too small for the entertainment of guests on State occasions. It was suggested that the new addition or wing be attached to the southern end of the Mansion and connected with it, but the interior plan of the old building did not lend itself to this arrangement. Moreover, the architect felt that the present symmetrical proportions of the Mansion would be seriously impaired by such treatment, nor would the appropriation allow the consideration of two wings. So, a happy solution of the problem has been reached by the placing of a beautiful elliptical dining-hall at the rear of the main building, directly connecting with and opening into the saloon parlors on either side of the entrance hall.

The partition wall now dividing these parlors will be removed, and four beautiful columns will be substituted, making an entrance into the dining-hall without infringing upon the parlors which are beautifully proportioned rooms. The new addition will conform in Colonial style and detail in every particular to the old building, the doors and windows matching exactly. The elliptical dining-room will have a handsome crystal center chandelier, with invisible electric lights around the ceiling cornice. The vista, as seen from the hall in entering the building and looking through four arches into the parlors and on beyond into the dining-hall will be most imposing.

The ground floor of the addition is devoted to a spacious new kitchen, pantry and service room. Dumb waiters will go from the ground floor to ante-rooms adjoining the dining-hall, for conveyance of china and meals up and down. The present dining-room will make an ideal smoking and billiard-room and will be used for that purpose. The addition, while it will add greatly to the comfort and style of the Mansion, will, in no sense, mar the exterior symmetry and quiet dignity of this time-honored building.

Day's Work in Congress

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 2.—What might have been a serious partition bill, was happily avoided by Speaker Cannon late this afternoon in the House of Representatives, when Mr. Murphy, of Missouri, rose to present what he designated a privileged resolution. The conference reports on the bill, which had been made and ordered printed, when the Missouri congressman presented a resolution rescinding the action of the House sending the statehood bill to conference, and providing for a vote on the Senate amendments.

Mr. Payne, of New York, the floor leader of the majority, instantly made the point that the resolution was not privileged. The Speaker, with smiling face, held that the resolution was not privileged, as the bill was in the hands of the Senate, and he had serious doubts if the resolution would be privileged even if the papers were with the House. Confusion ensued. Mr. Murphy and a number of Democrats springing to their feet took exception to the ruling of the Speaker.

Rules With High Hand.

Above the din Mr. Murphy was heard to say: "Let us have a square deal, Mr. Speaker. I appeal from the decision of the 'Chair,' but the Speaker was oblivious to the motion for an appeal and adjourned the House at 5:30 until noon on Thursday on motion of Mr. Bonnyne, of Colorado, leaving Mr. Murphy gesticulating on the floor.

The House spent the day considering the naturalization bill, but did not complete it.

The feature of the naturalization bill

Broken in health, the result of a disease contracted on the battle-field, and suffering from a general breakdown, Mr. Nickerson was restored to robust, happy health by the use of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey.

This is his sincere letter of thanks:

When a man is discouraged and constantly suffering he very naturally has a deep feeling for the remedy that brings him the happiness attained through robust health.

I take a teaspoonful of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey every morning, beaten up with a raw egg and two-thirds of a glass of milk. On retiring at night I take a tablespoonful in hot water and sugar.

Before I began with Duffy's I was badly broken in health and completely rundown.

My right leg and foot was cold up to my knee all the time, and I could not keep warm nights.

Was also bothered with shakes, contracted through exposure during the Civil War, when I served in the United States Army.

I recommend Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey to all old soldiers, or, in fact, to any person who is broken in health or growing old.

Now, though I am a temperance man, desisting the indiscriminate use of intoxicants, I heartily endorse Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey.

Session of Senate.

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, June 2.—The Senate to-day received the conference reports of the railroad rate and statehood bills and heard the announcement of the result of the deliberations of the Committee on Privileges and Elections. In the case of Senator Smoot. In the case of Senator Smoot, Senator Burrows, who made the statement as chairman of the committee, asked that a day be fixed for a consideration of the subject, but objection was made because the official report was not ready for consideration, and on that account the further consideration of the subject was postponed. There was no discussion of either the statehood or the rate question.

The consideration of the joint resolution prescribing a policy in the purchase of Panama Canal supplies consumed the major part of the session and it closed by the adoption of the resolution by practically a party vote. The Democrats sought in many forms, but in vain, to secure the adoption of an amendment that would commit Congress against the protective system, the only amendment adopted, was one suggested by Senator Pettus, providing that bids shall be from the lowest responsible bidders.

After passing a large number of private pension bills, the Senate adjourned until Monday.

bility. The initial carrier is made liable to the shipper but such initial carrier is entitled to recover from the carrier on whose line the loss, damage or injury shall have been sustained.

Enlargement of Commission.

The original provisions of the House bill, enlarging the commission to seven members with terms of seven years and each to receive $10,000 compensation annually, was restored to the bill, and a provision added providing the appointment of a secretary at $5,000 annually. This provision was offered in the Senate and voted down, and therefore is new legislation.

Another piece of new legislation is found in the last section, where provision is made that the commission shall be in force for sixty days from and after its passage, instead of immediately upon its passage and approval, as was provided by both the House and the Senate.

Hepburn's Opinion.

Representative Hepburn of Iowa, who introduced the railroad rate bill, made a statement regarding the measure after he had presented the conference report to the House to-day.

"I think the bill, as a whole," he said, "is an excellent one, and I have no doubt that it will bring relief to the shippers. It is the measure recommended in the message of the President."

Report on Statehood.

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 2.—Conference on the statehood bill, at 3 o'clock to-day, signed a report covering all points in dispute, but exception was taken by the Democrats to the agreement in relation to Arizona and New Mexico. The vote was unanimous in regard to all provisions relating to the admission of Oklahoma and Indian Territory. The exception was taken by Senator Patterson and Representative Moon, the managers on the part of the minority, and indicates that the agreement may yet encounter shoals in the Senate, where a poll shows that without Democratic votes the report cannot be adopted.

When the conference report was presented to the Senate to-day, Senator Forester declared he would do his utmost to defeat it, Senator Bailey declared that the agreement would not be accepted by the Democrats.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 2.—It has been decided at the Navy Department to use the Port Royal Naval Station as a winter training station to any extent which may be deemed desirable by the department to have some station available for the training of recruits, should disease make its appearance at one of the present training stations and render it inadequate.

gation made by Messrs. Neill and Reynolds. Present at the conference also was George P. McCabe, solicitor for the Department of Agriculture. The text of the brief was discussed thoroughly and was voted finally into the form in which it will be transmitted to Congress next Monday.

The Wadsworth substitute for the Beveridge beef inspection amendment to the agriculture bill has been completed and printed for the information of the Committee on Agriculture. It will not be made public until next Wednesday. The substitute is said to follow the lines of the Beveridge amendment, with the vital exception that it places the cost of inspection upon the government. It also provides a complete review of the administration of the inspection and restricts the jurisdiction of the Secretary of Agriculture in the power to make regulations given him in the Beveridge amendment.

What Ryan Says.

Hon. John P. Ryan, of Loudoun county, former member of the Virginia House of Delegates, and an extensive cattle-raiser, while at the Capitol to-day, discussed the subject of the Beveridge amendment, and governmental inspection of meat products generally.

"I don't believe there is anything like the necessity of this inspection law that people appear generally to believe," he said. "I am confident that conditions in the packing houses are terribly exaggerated. I am quite familiar with the methods in use in the meat packing establishments; I know from experience that the packers are extremely careful, and of course, cleanliness in every department. Of course, it occasionally occurs that a diseased animal gets into the market. Such things will happen under any conditions, no matter how rigid the inspection. A rotten pumpkin is sometimes used in making pies. The pie-maker has only to cook that pumpkin with a hundred others and nobody is the wiser as to the state of all those pumpkins before being sold."

Do you want governmental inspection of all pumpkins proposed to be baked into pies?

Extravagant Language.

"The cattle-growers will suffer enormously as a result of this inspection law," talk about the impurities of canned meats. It plays right into the hands of the European farmers, especially those of Germany, where they have been trying to shut out American meats for a long time. I believe, too, that there has been a great deal of extravagant language used about the beef trust. Everybody has known for years that there was an oil trust, and a steel trust, and so on, but the fact that certain meat-packers controlled the price of beef and excluded it from the consumers has never been clearly established. The retail dealer is getting meats at a very fair price. He often puts up the price on the consumer, and the trust gets the blame."

Mr. Ryan believes, however, that since the agitation for meat inspection has been started, and so many stories of impurity have been circulated, it would be best to provide for its inspection by the government. But he believes the government should pay for the inspection instead of putting the cost upon the growers or consumers.

OBITUARY.

S. E. Oliver.

Departed this life Tuesday, May 5, 1906, Samuel Elder Oliver, aged twenty-four years. Scarcely had the clouds fallen upon the coffin of this beloved young man, when his brother was stricken down, and in a few days the end came. These two brothers were sons of Mrs. Mary E. and the late John B. Oliver.

Truly, God it is said of them, "In the midst of life, we are in death." Never was there a more pathetic visitation of Providence than in the sudden death of these two young men. Hearty, hale and strong, almost in the twinkling of an eye they passed away. Untied in life, untied in death.

They are survived by a heart-broken mother and a devoted brother. The ways of Providence are, indeed, mysterious. But what we know not now we shall know hereafter.

Then trust in God, through all thy ways;

Fear not, for He doth hold thy hand.

Though dark thy way, still stay thy hand.

Sometime—sometime, we'll understand.
